Coolidge Likened to Ukulele; Rogers Is Pickin' on Him

(Special To The News)
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Aug. 18.—Hoover opened his tour of one nighters here last night. He is breaking in the act that will either get him in the white house or into the most obsolete circle of all, men who have run for the presidency.

From now 'till November neither of the boys can be themselves. They are eating and sleeping in a show window. They are acting every minute. Coolidge is the only one nobody ever knew when he was acting and when he wasn't. He was like a ukulele. You can't tell when somebody is playing one, or just monkeying with it.

Yours, WILL.

TOPEKA, Kans., Aug. 18.—Today is the big day for Topeka—and incidentally for the remainder of the United States which may be interested in the ceremonies attendant upon the notification of a vice presidential nominee that he has been chosen as such by his party.

In the shank of the evening when the big green copper dome of the state house throws its sprawling shadow across the great velvet expanse of yard beneath and awharf the huge temporary speakers' stand erected below, the largest gathering in Kansas history will look on while Old Cap Curtis' boy Charley is formally notified by the Republican party that he has been chosen to run on their ticket for the office of vice-president.

Ideal Weather.

The weatherman forecast ideal weather—fair and cooler.

But rain or shine Senator Curtis will be notified on the south steps of the state house at five o'clock central standard time. This is the final decision of the sub-committee chairman of the general Curtis committee who have taken into consideration the radio audience of twenty million who will listen in through the vicarious ears of the loud speaker, as well as the immediate audience of thirty thousand which will throng over the spacious grass grandstand of the state house yard.

COCHRANE, Ont., Aug. 18.—Reports of favorable weather conditions received here led Bert Hassell, the American trans-Atlantic flyer, to believe he could hop off on the second leg of his flight to Stockholm today.

Preparations were completed for a quick take-off in the event no unfavorable meteorological reports were received in the meantime.

Greenland Next Stop

Hassell and Parker Cramer, pilots of the monoplane Greater Rockford, who are attempting a flight from Rockford, Ill., to Stockholm, said their next stopping place would be Mount Evans, Greenland, if all went well. The distance from Cochrane is 1,600 miles.

The plane was in excellent condition after its long flight from the Illinois city and the pilots were sanguine of success. A dangerous flight lies before them, however, as they will be passing over the wilderness of Northeastern Canada where a mishap might compel them to land in some isolated spot far from human habitation.

Some beasts are thankful for that little fountain which sprouts up at the corner of Lutton and South Mill streets. And they are the dogs, for it furnishes them with a supply of fresh, cold drinking water. Nevertheless Pa New thinks that it should be remedied in some other way for when cars pass, someone on the sidewalk is sure to get splashed.

Fifteen cars were removed from the streets of the downtown section of New Castle early this morning, in accordance with the city ordinance which forbids parking after two o'clock in the morning, and taken to a local garage, where they were stored, according to Chief of Police C. C. Horner.

Most of the automobiles were taken from East Falls street, in front of The Castleton, from East North street, and from the public square. Owners, in claiming them this morning, had to pay the usual storage charges.

This move, says the police chief, indicates that in the future, the ordinance will be enforced to the letter.

Persons who are in the habit of leaving their cars stand out overnight should take warning, the chief thinks, and make some arrangement by which they can have the use of a garage.

Improvements Are Being Made At Airport Here

Work On McMillen Field Being Done Under New York Pilots

IMMENSE HANGAR IS BEING PLANNED

McMillen Field on the Harlansburg road, is soon to become the center of intense flying activities, according to Jimmy Gallagher, pilot, who recently arrived here with Lieutenant Billy Grey, also an experienced pilot from Curtiss Field, New York.

The field is being put into shape in accordance with the regulations of the department of commerce as fast as it is possible, according to Mr. Gallagher. The field is being leveled off as much as possible.

One of the big new features now under way under the supervision of Messrs. Gallagher and Grey is the construction of an immense circle, one hundred feet in diameter as near as possible to the center of the field.

Under the department of commerce regulations, this must be white so as to be visible at a great distance in the air. The circumference of the circle is four feet in width and for the present and until a concrete construction can be placed in this four foot excavation, the ground is being covered with lime, which is white and will serve the purpose until the more permanent work can be done.

Messrs. Gallagher and Grey are securing figures on an immense hangar sixty by 100 feet in size and capable of housing ten to twelve ships at one time. It is expected that this structure will be erected in the near future.

Arrangements have also been made for the installation of a gasoline and oil service station in the field, which will dispense special aviation fuel and oils.

A department of commerce inspector will be called here as soon as the circle is completed and other improvements now under way have been made for the purpose of receiving the department of commerce approval of the field. This will be in the nature of a reinspection, as the field has already been approved to some extent.

Pilots Gallagher and Grey are being assisted in this work by Captain Ronald Smith, who is spending some time here as chief pilot for Robert C. Love, who is planning to become a pilot in the near future. Mr. Love's will be the first privately owned ship to make its headquarters at the field.

Among the improvements under way are the removal of several buildings and other obstructions still remaining on the field. A large number of trees are also being removed.

One of the reasons for these extensive improvements and activities at the McMillen Field is the proposed establishment as soon as possible by Messrs. Gallagher and Grey of a cross country passenger service, in fact an air service to any point desired and also the instruction of students in the art of flying. They already have two students for a course in flying and state that there are indications that a large number of local people will take up the art and science of flying in the immediate future.

Alto home. The second would be made at Kansas City and the third, closing the campaign, would be made over the radio, either from San Francisco or from his Palo Alto home on the night before the election.

However, Hoover will have to be won over to this plan, as he is a reluctant campaigner. He personally expressed the wish to make but four speeches after his Iowa farm address next Tuesday, and it is his personal plan to make only as many speeches as are necessary to explain the Republican campaign issues. Some of his closest friends believe he will veto all requests for speeches on his final trip west.

Must Vote in California

Among members of his party it was feared eastern leaders would protest against taking the Republican nominee to the Pacific coast for the close of the campaign. Hoover already has agreed with them that the big battle of the campaign must be fought to win the Atlantic seaboard states, and it has been a traditional policy of Presidential candidates to close the campaign in the East. On the other hand, the nominee must vote and under present conditions he only can vote if he goes home—the California law will not allow him to send in a ballot by mail.

Hoover had a great day, leaving California. He visited a half dozen cities in the lower half of the state and was given hearty welcomes in each instance.

Hoover was due to reach the Grand Canyon at 1:30 this afternoon (mountain time) after greeting a delegation of Arizona Republican leaders at Williams. He planned to spend the day at the canyon, viewing its great scenic wonders. The river at that point runs through a tremendously deep gorge, worn through the rock through centuries of time.

The nominee will leave the Grand Canyon at one minute after midnight tonight. He will speed through New Mexico tomorrow and Kansas Monday, en route to his birthplace at West Branch, Ia. He will deliver a farm speech in the Iowa town Tuesday night.

THRONG INSPECTS FIRST NATIONAL BANKING HOME

crowded around the front of the bank awaiting the opening of the doors and the throng had become so great that police officers had to be used in keeping the crowd in order and out of danger from the traffic of Washington street.

With the opening of the doors, the vast throng poured into the banking room, where at the right hand side, they received cards, which they filled out with their name and address and designated which one of the four types of souvenirs—a lady's purse, a gentleman's billfold, a gold pencil or an ash tray, they desired, which was given them, when the card was returned.

The universal comment of all visitors was that of enthusiastic approval of the banking quarters.

Throughout the banking room were the directors and officers of the bank, who greeted the people as they passed by and also showed those interested, the various modern appliances, vault equipment and departments of the banking institution. Apparently a very large percentage of the people were interested in the huge money vault.

Scores Of Floral Tributes.

Adding to the exquisite beauty of the bank interior were the scores of beautiful floral tributes sent to The First National Bank of Lawrence County by banking institutions, business houses and individuals in all parts of the country, as a token of best wishes to the local institution in the opening of the new building. These together with palms, ferns and other floral decorations were arranged in an effective manner.

At 11:30 o'clock the several thousand souvenirs secured for the occasion had been entirely exhausted but a new supply had been ordered and was expected early this afternoon, to be given away to those not already supplied with them, during the late afternoon and evening. The public inspection continues until ten o'clock tonight.

Special souvenirs for the children were given out between twelve o'clock and one o'clock.

Officials Of Bank.

The officers of The First National Bank of Lawrence County are: Rufus C. Patterson, chairman of the board; Samuel Foltz, president; Robert C. Love and Alex Crawford Hoyt, vice-presidents; Joel S. McKee, cashier; Harry L. Ailey, assistant cashier; Frank W. Smith, assistant cashier; William A. Pond, assistant cashier; Edgar L. Thompson, assistant cashier.

The directors of that institution and also of the Union Trust Company of New Castle are: Rufus C. Patterson, Samuel Foltz, David S. Pyle, James M. Smith, Alex Crawford Hoyt, T. F. Morehead, Robert C. Love, Dr. Robert A. Wallace, J. Norman Martin, W. S. McGinnis, George A. Carpenter, Stewart P. Foltz, John D. Chapman.

of light, while sufficient air supply is guaranteed with the new ventilation system.

At the end of the lobby is the mammoth safe deposit vault with its massive 22-ton chilled steel door. The vault is protected against burglar attacks with a network of interlaced steel rods and wires which makes it impossible for anyone to enter the vault without setting off the burglar alarm. A rather novel feature of the main lobby is a children's department with steps for the youngsters to stand upon when making deposits.

Mezzanine Floor.

On the mezzanine floor is located the directors' room furnished with green leather chairs and a large oblong table. On this floor also is located the bookkeeping room, and a conference room which can be used for a number of purposes. Pictures will be shown there tonight.

Many floral tributes were in evidence in the banking rooms. Souvenirs were given to visitors.

The new Lawrence Savings & Trust company is a credit to the city, to the bank and to the men who made the changes. The architectural work was done by W. G. Eckles, while the contract was worked out by L. A. Haug.

The officers and directors of the bank are: E. E. McGill, chairman of the board; Thomas H. Hartman, president; O. P. Brown, vice president; F. A. Schulz, executive vice president and treasurer; S. A. Weinschenk, secretary and assistant treasurer; A. W. Tindall, assistant secretary; Attorney W. K. Hugus, trust officer; Directors, E. E. McGill, F. A. Schulz, O. P. Brown, G. G. Stitzinger, C. J. Banquet Friday Evening.

On Friday evening a banquet was held in the Castleton at which the officers, directors and employees and wives of the Lawrence Savings & Trust company and the Home Trust company attended, about 80 in number.

O. P. Brown acted as toastmaster, with the following making speeches: C. J. Kirk, S. A. Weinschenk, E. E. McGill, Attorney W. K. Hugus, Senator George T. Weingartner, Julius Goldmark and J. C. Miner. Music was provided by Mrs. Fred Emery.

COUNTY HIGHWAYS WILL BE BEAUTIFIED BY TREE PLANTING

Van Duzer arranged to have highway employees plant the trees.

Why Routes Were Selected.

It is only possible to plant the trees on the presidential nomination, the Governor will tell the voters of America that his two major critics, Dr. Stratton and editor White, have gotten things completely changed about, and that he is a friend and not a foe of moral progress.

The trees will be planted on only one side of the Harlansburg highway, which will be for a distance of probably five or six miles while the stretch to be covered by the oaks, elms and oriental planes (the latter a Chinese tree) will cover the same distance along the Enon Valley road and it is possible that should the time come when poles are removed from other highways, trees can be secured for them in an effective manner.

Movement Under Way.

Numerous New Castle citizens have been interested in the project of securing trees along the improved highways in this county, for some months, and the announcement that the work is to be done is the result of a movement started here, and given approval by the state secretary of agriculture and the state highway department.

Lawrence County has some of the finest natural scenery in the state. Some of the roads that were improved with concrete highways were beauty spots before the modern era of progress arrived, when trees were eliminated to make way for high tension power lines, carrying electricity and for the telephone lines, giving phone service on the farms.

It is the hope that the project now started will result ultimately in all of the improved highways in Lawrence county being lined with trees, and that Lawrence county will be marked throughout the state as one of beautiful highways.

As yet, no arrests have been made in connection with the robbery of the store of C. P. Tucker of 423 West Washington street, which took place Friday evening, when unknown persons Jimmied the rear window of the store and took some merchandise.

When Detective John Young and Officer Lynch investigated the robbery this morning, they found that the thieves had taken an amount of bacon, some cookies, cigarettes, three dollars in pennies, candy and cigars.

PROF. IRVINE'S RESIGNATION

NEW CASTLE school authorities probably accepted for granted that the resignation of Prof. LaVerne Irvine, as head of the band and orchestra work of the high schools was final.

Perhaps it was. We do not know. But action on the resignation seemed hasty.

Members of the board, as well as citizens of New Castle are well aware of the wonderful work that has been done by Prof. Irvine during his six years in the school service here.

Might it not be possible that some negotiation would have resulted in the recalling of the resignation, or that there might even yet be a chance of a reconsideration of actions both on the part of Prof. Irvine and the school board.

The News is loath to see Prof. Irvine leave the New Castle school service. We believe that he is a genius in his line, and that his services have been a most valuable asset to the progress of the schools. He will be hard to replace.

There is a very decided feeling in the city that effort should be made to retain his services.

FARMERS SWING TO HOOVER

SOME years ago American agriculture attained its political majority, with the result that intensive cultivation of the farm vote has featured political campaigning in most of the national elections since that time. There will be no lack of this again this year. It started before the conventions, was in evidence at the conventions, predominated in Hoover's acceptance speech and will not be overlooked by Governor Smith.

But there is the added condition this year that the farmers in their turn have set about to cultivate the parties as never before. They are demanding positive yields in benefits. The party which will get the bulk of the farm vote, they indicate, will be the one offering the best assurance of a bumper crop in results in relieving the unsatisfactory condition of agriculture. They will burrow from within.

That the Middle West farmers are turning to the Republican party, rather than to the Democrats or to a third party, political observers are convinced. Fifteen editors of farm publications in ten states have come to the conclusion that Hoover is the candidate for agriculture. Senator McNary has declared himself for Hoover and strategically the Republican party feels strong with Senator Curtis of the wheat belt and one of the supporters of the McNary-Haugen bill as its candidate for vice president.

Republicans and political experts see the trend in Mr. Lowden's statement that he was "much impressed" by Secretary Hoover's acceptance speech. It will be remembered that the former governor was favored by the farmers for the Republican presidential nomination and withdrew as a candidate because of dissatisfaction with his party's farm plank.

SCHOOL CONSCIOUS

WITH the approach of the school year 1928-29, we become, as it were, school conscious.

On the one hand, we are considering the advisability of more schooling, and, on the other, wondering about the attitude of mind of those who do return, either through choice or compulsion. On this decision and attitude may hinge success or failure in the undertaking.

In the modern competitive contest to make good, it becomes a conflict of wits. Adequate schooling can play an important part. There is no magic in education; it does not insure success, but there is no better insurance against failure. It helps create greater resourcefulness to meet opportunity as it beckons; stimulates ability to expend earning power; contributes to greater moral force and better citizenship.

We accept commercial forms of insurance because they are tangible. We do not question the value of insurance against sickness, accident, death, unemployment, or loss by fire, tornado, hail or rain.

The insurance state and city give us, through education, is not so tangible. Yet it is nevertheless a force with tangible results. A person may secure a good position, but it is another thing to hold it. Education, properly applied, can tighten that grip. It can give the practical turn to a groping ambition; it can inspire initiative; it can teach the profitable use of leisure; it can instill the proper attitude toward life and labor by hand or brain.

In business we build up a cash reserve to safeguard the future of the corporation. We put shock absorbers on our motor cars to get us over the rough places; we put on emergency brakes. We build up a physical reserve to give us immunity from disease.

We need a similar reserve fund in our cultural existence. Education is a fertile source of supply. It can fortify youth at every turn; it can be a stronghold of mental and physical stamina—a reservoir of resourcefulness.

School doors will soon reopen. The occasion should not be looked upon as an opportunity to get away from work, but to prepare for it; not a finishing school, but a preparation training; not an opportunity to a white-collar job, but opportunity to discover self-interests and adaption; not insurance against mediocrity, but opportunity to avoid it.

No school system or teaching force, however efficient, can do much in the education of an unwilling child. It can afford the opportunity and point out the way. The child, in co-operation with the parents, must do the rest.

The school doors are wide open. Those privileged to enter therein should not feel that they have been sentenced to serve, but have been selected for service.

Pathetic Figures.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 6:55. Sun rises tomorrow 5:14.

The most sublime of all courage is often manifested by those who merely sit tight.

In a letter received from a member of our family in the west it was stated that in nine weeks only one little sprinkle of rain was noticed in their travels. It has been different here.

Don't worry about birth control. If the kind who believe in it practice it, there won't be anybody left to advocate it.

One of the worst shocks the writer of this column has experienced in many a year was when he read in The News yesterday that Prof. LeVerne Irvine was leaving the public schools of New Castle. In our opinion no greater loss could be suffered by the schools and the citizens generally than his leaving. He is not only a very competent worker, but also a willing one and one of the finest young gentlemen it has ever been our pleasure to know. There is not a member of our family or in the organization of The News that does not most sincerely regret his leaving the school work of New Castle. Our best wishes and prayers go with him and his family.

All the nations seem to be for peace but they also want a place in which to keep their powder dry.

Very often you see one who seems to think that bare knees and cigarettes will make a man of her.

Gene Tunney says he cannot understand why a cultured and beautiful young lady has agreed to marry him. Maybe later on she may also think the same thing, but we do not want anyone to think we are hanging on a crimp. But history is an open book for any one who wants to know about the matrimonial ventures of champions of theistic arena.

We always judge a race horse by what he has done and not by what we expect it to do.

The way some married people get along you'd think they married each other on a bet.

Some birds get terrible riled when they are refused credit in places they are unknown. We would not think of asking for credit where we are unknown and maybe even if we were known. The same birds who make a fuss about being refused credit would also be about the last persons in the world to grant it if it was asked of them. Just the same it is safe to refuse credit to those unknown to you in spite of their yap. We have been skinned many a time by that kind of babies.

It always seems that after Old Timers' day is over we should get ready to put in the winter's coal.

The reason so many great men enjoy congregational singing is because they know the words they utter will not be used against them.

Our idea of a first-call store is where the clerks step right up to you when you go in and try to wait on you instead of standing around twiddling their fingers and waiting for us to beg of them to show us the things we would like to buy—and you have perhaps noticed that kind are quite scarce.

Don't you just hate to see a girl who smokes cigarettes gesture with hand-clasp, prepare to say you are broke.

Nekties that formerly sold at from six to ten dollars each are now being offered in big cities at from two to two-fifty each. We do not know of one that will interest around here.

It's a man's nature to complain about it all the way, but when his wife once gets him in the tea room,

The wise mother is the one who is making plans to get the kiddies started back to school equipped as they should be. It won't be long now.

In a few weeks derby hats and oysters will be in again. There will be some brown derbies this fall and then a dark brown taste.

A Butler county man was fined ten dollars for driving a horse and buggy and failing to have a red light on the rear of his rig. We would like to ask why headlights are not also required on a horse.

The only time it is permissible to point is at the exclusive hotel after reading the French menu when say "I want some of that."

The druggists are putting in lunch counters now. They've had indigestion tablets on sale all along.

If you would have the hours spent in the doctor's reception parlor pass quickly study the other patients and try to figure out what they've got and whether it is a very serious thing to have.

An automobile factory is going to continue making automobiles instead of airplanes because the planes are still unsafe. That's about the way we have figured it out and will stay with the automobiles so long as we can keep up the payments.

A critic says all new books are forgotten within a year, which should answer those who say we are going to the dogs.

It isn't the color of a man's eyes when he falls in love with so much as the color of his dough.

Aliquippa, Beaver county, has the largest list of registered voters in that county, having 10,261 Republicans and 154 Democrats. If you know how to make the right kind of a deal you can get about all of those voters to vote for you but you have to know

A Woman at 49.

Money Is Easier.

Defense by Retaliation.

One Animal, Two Brains.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1928, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

Ethel Barrymore, 49 years old Thursday, told friends she was enjoying life "as much as ever."

She ought to be enjoying life more than ever.

For an intelligent woman, real life begins at 49. Wise providence won't let women do important mental work much before 50. Up to that age nature intends women to be busy with children.

The money situation is better for prosperity and business. Apparently Federal Reserve authorities have decided that promoting usurious rates of interest in order to "let out" respectable financiers that sold the market short a year ago is not wise.

The price of "call money" dropped to 4 1/4 per cent. Thursday, lowest since May 3.

The day before the rate was 7 per cent. Quite a change.

When the president returns from fishing, he might have a commission of his own to investigate responsibilities that sold the market short a year ago and got the Federal Reserve to help them "cover" their foolishness.

London authorities, after the mimic air war, announce unanimously, "London cannot be defended successfully by anti-aircraft measures. The only real safety lies in attacking the raiders."

Enough airplanes to repel attack require gigantic air fleets. The best plan is to prepare a great air fleet to drop bombs and gas, so that no enemy would dare attack, knowing that its own cities would be immediately destroyed by British forces.

Some day our country will think about air defense. It hasn't even established a separate air force. We our flying forces to old Army and Navy flocks. That is like leaving management of railroads to an old stage coach line.

Roy Chapman Andrews, searching for strange things in Central Asia, reports finding an extinct monster "as big as the Woolworth Building."

Such an animal if carnivorous could carry home in its mouth a couple of big elephants and walk through an ordinary city crushing buildings as it went.

But it had a small head, little or no thinking power. That is why it is no longer with us.

The biggest dinosaur thus far known had one brain in its head, and another half-way down the spine, to govern the lower part of the body. It hadn't enough energy in the top brain to power the whole dinosaur.

Some times when you consider our government, you feel that this country is getting in the dinosaur class, and needs another brain located somewhere along the line.

Com. Byrd takes a band with him to the South Pole. The seals, whales and penguins will also hear a fine talking machine supplied with 150 records.

The sad little penguins, so gentle and harmless, will waddle up to hear the music, and get knocked on the head for their pains, and eaten.

This reminds you of old kings that sent out bands to play for their soldiers. The soldiers marched cheerfully behind until they were knocked on the head, human penguins.

Light is the power of time and can pound interest. In 1858, 70 years ago, Ehrhardt V. Franz, having made $97,786 in the grocery business, left it in trust. A Federal court reports that it now amounts to $10,000,000.

Save money and it will save you. Poverty is slavery. The man without a dollar must do what the man with a dollar tells him to do. So get your dollar.

Another Atlantic flight, Bert Haskell started Thursday morning for Stockholm, Sweden.

Soon the public will feel about ordinary ocean flights with no lovely lady attached as the London bus conductor felt who said to the lady going upstairs holding her skirts tightly: "Legs is no treat to me, ma'am."

Merely flying across the ocean in a dangerous plane is no longer important. As Henry Ford says, the important thing is to produce a plane that will make ocean flying absolutely safe.

Does Secretary Davis worry because the War Department does not pay expenses?" asks the HARTFORD COURANT. "If he does, the fact is not generally known. We cannot imagine that the Department of the Interior is in a position to declare a dividend out of its earnings or that anybody cares whether it does or not."

A more valuable idea would be to guarantee lower, fairer retail prices. It is ridiculous to pay 40 per cent more than a tire costs to the man that rolls it across the floor. It doesn't even need to be wrapped up. Expensive distribution is the curse of business.

Mexican firing squads are still busy. San Luis Potosi reports seven "insurgents" executed. Fourteen more insurgents were killed in open fighting.

Oil And Gas Reported Stolen

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Scared stiff by the sharpest fangs prohibition has yet bared, numerous Park Avenue fashionables who like their cocktails today were fleeing service of subpoenas that would bring them before the federal grand jury Monday. One hundred and twenty-five subpoenas already have been served on Ritz folk from the avenue, actresses, politicians and business and professional people.

Post Cards From Europe

by William Ivy

PARIS, Aug. 18.—Installation at the port of Corunna, in Spain, of the William Loth system of electrical navigation is an event in maritime history of first importance.

The Loth system is well known to the scientific world and its efficiency has been amply proved in tests, but Corunna is the first port to put it into practical effect.

Its object is to make safe navigation possible even in the thickest fog, particularly in harbors, in the neighborhood of dangerous reefs, and in rivers and other narrow channels. A submarine cable is laid, following the line of the safe channel. This cable is charged with a high-tension current emitting waves which are received on board ship by means of a sort of wireless receiving set.

The pilot, wearing a head-set, can tell at every moment whether he is directly above the cable, or whether he is to the right or the left of it. By laying down special rules it is possible for steamers to proceed at full speed in the densest weather without risk of collision.

Moreover, in much-frequented harbors like New York, where there are many channels and where navigation rules are necessarily complicated, it is possible to lay down a whole series of cables, each "tuned" differently.

And besides the submarine cable, the Loth system includes high-tension land-wires which act as invisible light-houses, and warn vessels away from dangerous coasts, sandbanks, etc., as well as guiding them safely into the harbor they are seeking.

It is freely predicted that the success of the Corunna experiment will result in the installation of the same system in all harbors and on all coasts where risks to navigation exist. Who knows but a blind man—provided he has a good ear—may be the ideal sea-captain of the future?

cost; and certainly that is not to be done by driving parcel-post business to the express companies and other carriers. It would seem that, instead of being critical, Mr. New ought to thank Congress for giving him an opportunity such as no Postmaster General has ever had. He can reform the parcel post along the best business lines, aided by the Commerce Commission and without interference from Congress."

"Somehow the Postal Service ought to be put on a self-supporting basis," contends the EVANSVILLE COURIER AND JOURNAL, with the suggestion that "no one in this day of efficiency and economy should accept permanent defeat in this matter." The MANCHESTER UNION holds that "it ought not to be difficult to make readjustments that will bring the balance of revenue and expenditure closer to a sound business procedure." The FARGO FORUM complains that Congress "ran wild on appropriations" and suggests the possibility of a deficit in the national budget. As to the postal situation, that paper suggests: "The department may be able to meet it by increasing parcel-post rates, but that is a matter that will have to be decided after thorough investigation and careful consideration."

Campaign documents inspire denunciation from the TOLEDO BLADE, which is convinced that "this rubbish" isn't wanted by the public and that taxpayers "consign it to the wastebasket." The BINGHAMTON PRESS offers the judgment that "the post-office deficit ought to call emphatic attention of the country to the argument that it offers against the extension of government ownership. The post office has been held up by advocates of government ownership of public utilities as an example of successful governmental operation."

However, the BELLINGHAM HERALD, looking upon air mail as an aid in ultimately solving the problem, remarks: "Many years may elapse before the first-class mail is carried almost exclusively by air, but it is reasonable to believe that in time railroad service will be supplanted almost entirely by aerial delivery."

Postal Employees In Convention At Bradford, Penna.

BRADFORD, Pa., Aug. 18.—Postal employees of Northern Pennsylvania and Southern New York laid aside their mail bags and gathered at the Bradford Country Club here for a one-day session of their annual convention.

A business session followed by a banquet tonight is scheduled for the day's program. Congressman J. Mitchell Chase of Clearfield will address the postal employees as well as State Senator Frank E. Baldwin of Austin, James F. Gallagher of Pittsburgh, president of the Joint Association of Postal Employees of Western Pennsylvania, and T. B. Wilson, of Bradford.

"Well," said the cruel cannibal, muttering to himself, but talking aloud so that we could hear him, "it is high time that I took myself off to the tall trees. It would never do for a Night Heron to be caught out in the daylight. I have altogether too many cousins of the day who might be glad to pick a scrap with me for being on their hunting grounds, and what a mess I should be in then! I couldn't seem to jab out their eyes—I should only lose my own for my pains."

"Besides, I am getting sleepy—I do wish I could keep awake after day-break, but I never can. I have eaten heartily and drunk my fill and had an interesting hunt for two strangers whom I might have devoured if I had found them—what more could I wish?"

"For a Night Heron I have made a jolly good night of it. Now for my perch and a nap so that I shall be fresh for another good night's work. Perhaps I shall uncover the hiding places of those strange birds when I return. Or if not, I dare say I shall be able to run a mouse or two out from cover. Dear me! How tired I am! And how bleary my eyes feel. I had best make off while I can."

"These were the last words we heard the fellow say. Now we knew who he was—Night Heron. We hoped he should never meet another. As peeping out of the seaweed, we watched him, he drew his head far back between his shoulders, stretched out his legs so that they were in a straight line with his body, flapped his wings once or twice and then—what do you think he did?"

"What?" cried Peter and the two bunnies in chorus.

"Rise into the air and sailed off right over our heads," declared Mrs. Bobolink.

"Yes and then we crept out of the seaweed and hopped along the sand for a bit to gaze after him," continued Bobolink. "My, but it felt good to stretch our cramped legs! We noticed that the cruel cannibal flew straight inland. Then way off in the distance we saw the tops of some high trees. It was toward them he was taking his course. Soon he disappeared within the grove. And you may well believe that we were mighty glad to watch him out of sight!"

"I suppose you hurried off in the other direction just as I did when I was sure Mr. Fox was no longer on

Mental Healing At Public Meeting

Tonight and tomorrow night on the diamond at 8 o'clock following the Salvation Army meeting, Edwin A. Foley, evangelist from Chicago, will speak.

Mr. Foley was a victim of carbon monoxide gas eight years ago and claims that he cured himself by mental healing. He travels throughout the country walking and getting rides. He has travelled 60,000 miles in the last eight years.

He travels without a coat or hat, wears a blue shirt and riding pants and is tanned by exposure to wind and sun. Mr. Foley will address the crowds on mental healing which he says is the cure for all ailments. When he was gassed, says Mr. Foley, he was thought dead for four days. Mental healing, he says, cured him and has made him well again.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations
Of Interesting Things
Around New Castle

This is considerable of a day in New Castle, insofar as banking interests are concerned. Two new banks opening with all the attendant whoopdo and if you don't take a peek in at both of them to-day you're missing something.

Banks always did go in for heavy decorations with marble fronts and grilled bronze railings. But the Lawrence and the First have added to the old idea and the result is two banking institutions that breathe a metropolitan air.

They're so nice that one feels that he should wear evening clothes to go in and cash a check and a fellow would feel rather like a piker if he asked them to cash a check for anything under $100.

They are a credit to the city of New Castle. Any group or groups of men that have courage enough in the future of this or any other city to put up such imposing structures deserves the commendation of the people of the city and county.

Marble and bronze and steel and concrete cost money plenty, of it and the two new banks have been unsparing in what they used. Drop in this afternoon or this evening and take a look for yourself.

Amid the recent paragraph concerning Western Pennsylvania scenery a friend of this "columb" wants to know why not include Cooks Forest. Well why not? It's the last stand of virgin pine in the state and is well worth a trip. And it is also well worth any page in any manual the state might get out.

The roaming for the next two weeks will be done for the most part in a swivel chair. The blue pencil expert of this great family newspaper is leaving for the quiet life to be found in New York and while he is away the conductor will try out his chair.

L. Schmidt And Daughter On Trip

Castle Hill Mission Will Be Closed Ten Days During Their Absence

The Castle Hill Mission will be closed for a 10-day vacation to give the workers of that institution a much-needed rest. There will be no business of any kind transacted at the mission during that period of time.

The mission will open again Monday morning, Aug. 27. L. Schmidt, evangelist, the superintendent, and Esther L. Schmidt, his daughter, who is secretary and treasurer of the mission, will take a vacation trip to Elyria, O. They will attend a camp meeting at Axtel, a town near Elyria.

En route Mr. Schmidt and his daughter will stop in Youngstown, Warren and Cleveland, O., and speak one evening in each of these cities, because of the fact that Mr. Schmidt conducted missions in these cities years ago.

The evangelist and his daughter will distribute Bibles and religious literature, making the trip entirely self-supporting as home missionary Bible workers. They will sing, preach and pray and give Bibles away.

The evangelist and his daughter Esther started from New Castle on Friday, Aug. 17, without money, trusting the Lord for all expense and support. They keep a record of all free-will offerings, so that they can show what they received.

Their route is to Youngstown, Warren, Akron, Cleveland, Elyria, O., and on their return trip there will come by way of Lorain, Medina, New Lisbon, Wampum, Mahoningtown and home. They will use railroad, suburban cars, busses, automobiles and whatever offers the best transportation to their destinations.

Crippled Veteran
Going To Canada
To Spend Last Days

Jim Flinn is a Canadian. He was born under the maple leaf, and under the maple leaf he intends to die. He is on his way to Toronto—to die.

Friday afternoon Jim Flinn visited the New Castle police station on the way to Toronto. He is one of the survivors of the Maple Leaf division: one of the first hundred thousand to enter France during the World war.

During that war, says Jim, he met with several minor accidents. In the first place, both his legs were shot off, just above the knee. And in the second place, his whole body is wracked with mustard gas. Jim Flinn came to the police station because some one in the seventh ward objected to his resting on the curbing: walking for Jim is exceedingly difficult.

Jim did not ask for anything. He never does. Somehow he always gets money to pay for his simple needs.

Now he is the possessor of a bright and shiny half dollar, which will go far for Jim. He expects to make it last for quite a while.

At the police station there, too, are veterans of the World war. And these veterans know how to help a comrade in distress. He was fed and sent on his way: on his way back to Canada—to die. For Jim is sure that he will die sooner or later. And he fervently hopes that it will be sooner.

Poultry Club Meets At North Beaver

Report Is Made Of July Honor Roll For Flocks Of District

The North Beaver Adult Poultry Club met on Thursday night, August 16th, at the home of J. C. McClellan. H. R. McClellan, the County Agent, spoke to the members concerning the program for the following year. The club will be reorganized and start the official year on October 1st. Poultrymen and farmers should join this club and can get more detailed information from Mr. McClellan.

H. H. Kauffman, Poultry Specialist of State College, gave an illustrated talk on selecting hens for high egg production. He explained how a person can see if a bird has persistency and high intensity in production.

The club members summarized their reports for July. It is considered that a flock of laying birds should average 14.5 eggs or more per bird during July. This production is known as the July standard and the flocks that lay up to, or above the standard, are placed on the County Honor Roll. The following flocks are on the July Honor Roll.

Twenty Thousand Persons Share In Eating Of Pie

DENBY DALES, YORKSHIRE, Eng. Aug. 18.—There was only one a.m. and twenty thousand people. Yet each person got a piece and it was a large one too.

The secret to it is that the pie weighed something like a ton and consisted of 80 stone of flour, 15 hundred weight of potatoes, and the beef of six bullocks.

It was the celebrating of an age old custom which dates back to the year 1788 when the inhabitants of the Denby Dales baked such a pie to commemorate the recovery of King George III from a serious illness.

TWO PRISONERS ARE DISCHARGED

Only two miscreants were present when Mayor William H. Gillespie opened the daily police court this morning.

John, on the charge of being drunk and disorderly, pleaded guilty but John will swear off. So, because he is a hard working man, and only climbs off the wagon once in a long time, he was discharged by the mayor.

The other member of the mayor's class, evidently in a demented condition, was also discharged.

Datto Battles Carpentier Here Monday Night

Carpentier Hopes To Beat Oriental

Frankie Rio And His Akron Rival, Frankie Sunday, Clash In Semi-Final; Belmont And Hanlon To Furnish Fireworks; Two Other Battles On Jolly Bowl Calendar

THE 55,000 people in New Castle, there are two living here who know the cunning of the Filipino, and being wise in the ways of the slant-eyed Oriental, they'll be at the ringside Monday night when Johnny Datto, a fistic son of Aguinaldo, battles with U. S. Carpentier in the main bout of 10 rounds at Jolly Bowl. The men are Attorney George W. Muse and City Detective Creight Logan, who in 1898 were with the force sent across the Pacific to corner an' bag Aguinaldo, who proved a thorn in the side of Uncle Sam.

These two will be the guests of Bill Jolly, the promoter of the big wooden saucer, when Datto, the unrelenting, makes his appearance it will be with eager eyes that the people will watch the boy who can enjoy a guitar and a golf stick, then lay it down to encase his hairy fists in boxing gloves and set out to knock out an opponent. Of all the fighters who have appeared in this city, and that means dozens, there are none so colorful or picturesque as the little brown boy from the Philippines.

Knows No Mercy

Yes, it is true, he is boxing one of the flashiest youngsters in this district, but that doesn't detract from his color, and when the fans see the stealth with which he creeps around the ring, trying to sneak a right or left to the chin, heart or stomach, they'll understand, perhaps, why the chills course up and down the vertebrae of some of the weaker sisters in the fight game. Datto is a relentless fighter, one who asks no quarter and who gives no mercy, and is trying to reach the top of the featherweight division, formerly occupied by Johnny Kilbane, who was taught also by Datto's tutor, Jimmie Dunn, formerly of New Castle.

Rio Coming Again

And while they are watching the Oriental glide in and out with narrowed eyes and fists closed ready to pounce out to right and left, they'll see U. S. Carpenter, a lithe, young boy, fast as quicksilver, shoot left to the face and try for a right to jaw, hopeful of beating Datto. Carpenter was booked by Promoter Bill Jolly on account of his record, which leaves no room for doubt but that he is the fastest featherweight in western Pennsylvania, and that is saying plenty, because there are several good boys listed in this end of the state.

Frankie Rio, formerly of Farrell, now of Cleveland, will tackle a good little fighter in Frankie Sunday of Akron, and if these 130-pounders do not provide the thrills demanded at the Bowl, there isn't a pair in the country who can.

Action In Prelims

As Jimmie Belmont chased Young Vivio all over the ring recently, he was brought back to fight Johnny Hanlon, who defeated Eddie Conrad at the Old Armory. Should they live up to their past performances there should be a knockout or a grueling bout.

Young Harris, Pittsburgh, and Jack McCarthy, also of Smokytown, 144, will go on in the first bout. McCarthy has never fought here, but Reed Brown, his manager, says he is good, while Tom Bowler, Pittsburgh, says Harris is his equal.

Two light-heavyweights will clash in the first go, as Johnny Blister, Monaca high football star, has challenged Elmo the Mighty. If this match cannot be arranged, two other heavyweights will be placed in the first swatting-bee if they can be secured by Jolly.

Ritticisms BY BILL RITT

One Punch Palooka has joined the police force. He said he was tired of working for a living.

One Punch passed the intelligence test with flying colors. He pretended to be a deaf mute and refused to answer the questions.

When the chief first saw Palooka in his new uniform he asked for free tickets. He thought a circus was in town.

One Punch inherited his liking for the life of a patrolman. His granddad became famous on the stage playing Rip Van Winkle.

And his old man was one of the best snorers the force ever had. One day a group of foreigners saw him on the street corner and hung a wreath on his ear. They thought he was a statue.

The oldman was once on the traffic squad, but gave it up. He couldn't find anyone to blow the whistle for him.

In the first game Kremer held the Phills to 10 hits while his teammates collected 15. Willoughby was touched for doubles and singles and Traynor went so far as to net two triples.

Sweetland lasted five innings of the second game and Milligan took his turn flinging and Traynor again came through with a triple while P. Waner got his second double of the day.

Traynor was the individual star as the double victory placed the Bushmen nearer the top and they are now within half a game of fourth place.

Dry Organizations Will Wage Fight To Retain Pennington

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 18.—Rallying the defense of John D. Pennington, prohibition administrator for western Pennsylvania and West Virginia, the anti-Saloon league, W. C. T. U. and church organization today served notice that they will fight any efforts to have the dry head removed or "promoted" out of this district by politicians.

While Pennington himself refuses to take seriously the reports that he is slated to be deposed as a matter of political expediency to make room for another, Mrs. Ella M. George, state president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, and Rev. D. E.

Crua, district superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, issued statements in defense of Pennington's administration.

"Pennington must remain to carry through the work he has so courageously begun," Mrs. George said in a statement issued from her home in Beaver Falls. "He can rely on the support of every W. C. T. U. member in the state to stand by him and see that no obstacles are thrown in his way."

"The reason Pennington has been under constant fire is that he believes prohibition can be enforced without fear or favor," said Rev. Crua. "This is the policy that has drawn fire."

extensively engaged in the cattle business in the west.

He is vividly impressed with the progress that has been made by New Castle since his former visit here.

WOMAN SWIMMER SETS NEW ENDURANCE MARK

COLTON, Cal., Aug. 18.—Walking unassisted from the municipal pool after swimming 56 hours, 56 minutes and 30 seconds, Mrs. Lee Fourrier, 36, a wife and mother, was Friday hailed as the new world's champion endurance swimmer.

Mrs. Fourrier had planned to swim for 60 hours, but the chill creeping through the coat of heavy greases smeared on her body prevented such a record.
